1 — La Nuit du Cirque is coming!

As a trio!

The second La Nuit du Cirque will take place on 13, 14 and 15 November 2020. Not just one night, but three. This year's La Nuit du Cirque will be a 72-hour event. Why? Because we know that a first evening always calls for a second, and that there can't be two without three! We also thought that, although it's great to have La Nuit du Cirque, it would be even better if we had more time to see and do more things, with more artists, in more places, and with more people.

Territoires de Cirque is organising the event, backed by the French Ministry of Culture. Sharing the pleasures of the circus more widely and celebrating its diversity is never better when there are lots more of us. In addition to the members of the network, the organisation is inviting all broadcasting and production companies, local authorities, recreational circus schools, etc. to get involved in this new edition, throughout France and abroad. This year, La Nuit du Cirque is even more international. Circostrada, the European Network for Circus and Street Arts, and circusnext are partners in making it all happen.

In the daytime, during the course of an evening or two, right through the night, here, and then there, La Nuit du Cirque will include even more shows, performances, creations, workshops, encounters, film screenings and exhibitions, in theatres, in big tops, in the street... We will also be bringing circus to museums: the European Museum Night planned for May was postponed and will now be held this same weekend, on the Saturday night.

Everything is possible, everything is achievable, as long as we have more circus!
